

The islands of Ryfylke:

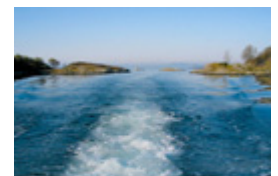

(Note that tent campers in public recreation areas are limited to two days per campsite.)

Click the map to download a higher-resolution PDF map.

Symbols on map for bunkering, cafés and restaurants, and recreational areas (marked green).

• Start from Stavanger or Tau: There are bunkering facilities for private boats by the old mill (Tau Mølle) at Tau. A popular recreation area is Tøgjevågen in Skyljarvik, northeast toward Fiskå not far from Tau. In the cove here are mooring bolts, toilets, waste disposal and recycling station.

Rossøysundet
Foto: Havnelosen

• Rossøysundet (Finnøy): A peninsula, sound and island at Fogn's southern point. The coast here is characterised by sloping rockfaces, and sheltered coves and a sound that offer many tempting places to cast anchor. Facilities in the area include handicap toilets, waste disposal and recycling station, guest harbour, and marked trails where you can enjoy birdlife, and see wildlife and free-ranging sheep. Accommodation is available at Finnøy Fjordsenter (on the eastern shore of Finnøy, at Nåden, south of Judaberg), where there are cabins and camping with sanitary facilities and other amenities. In Judaberg you can re-fuel 24 hours a day with credit card or bankcard.

Gjestehavn Judaberg
Foto: Dagfrid Vallestad

• Nord-Talgje in Sjernarøyane archipelago: The area consists of islands, skerries and islets, sounds and many sheltered coves – a popular boating destination with space for everyone. Den blå lagune (“the blue lagoon”) is a great place to swim for children, too. A nature reserve was established at Nord-Talgje in 2004. Facilities include a toilet, mooring hooks, waste disposal and recycling station, and an information board. Accommodation is available at Eldhuset bed & breakfast at Nord-Hidle near Hildesundet sound. Good traditional local food is served at Eldhuset and at Sjernarøy Maritim. Sjernarøyane archipelago has many excellent areas for hill walking, with well-marked paths on Kyrkjøy, Bjergøy and Nord-Talgje islands. Lundavågen has a nature reserve, and at Lundaøya you can visit Finnborg, remnants of ancient rural fortifications that offered protection in more hostile times.

Bryggeprat i Sjernarøyane
Foto: Hanne Sundbø

Erøy Landhandel
Foto: Hanne Sundbø

• Skaholmen Berget on the Økstrafjord (Suldal): The beacon at Barkeneset shows safe sailing into the Økstrafjord. Skaholmen Berget lies on the western shore, an area with polished and sloping rockfaces, idyllic islets, promontories, coves and sounds. There are many idyllic spots to cast anchor or moor your boat, and small bridges join many of the islets. One of the attractions is potholes carved by the powerful forces of Mother Nature. Facilities include a toilet, wharf, mooring hooks, waste disposal, an information board and paths. Re-fuel 24 hours a day at Foreneset. Sanitary facilities for boat tourists are also available at Erøy country store in Erfjord. You will also find land-based accommodation at Fuglestein Fjordferie at Foreneset.

• Søre Børøyholmen: This idyllic islet lies just south of Børøy island on the Fisterfjord. Facilities include handicap toilets, information signs, rest area with picnic tables, waste disposal and recycling station, mooring hooks, a barbecue area, and a wharf. Land-based accommodation is available at Solvåg Fjordferie on Fisterneset, and Ryfylke Fjordferie at Fister. Reservations are recommended. Tasty meals are served at Erling on the quay in Fister. Automated re-fuelling near the ferry quay at Hjelmeland or in Ølesund at Randøy: petrol 9am–9.30pm, diesel day and night.

• Return to Stavanger or Tau.